September 2020 Tarot Spread

This moment holds the potential of what you can become.

Time is in suspension. This is not the moment to make a move. Wait.

This is the opportunity to contemplate life beyond the immediate, and pursue your goals silently and in harmony with yourself.

It's a time for reflection upon the past and to experience life with a childhood simplicity. Then, you can realize how the past has influenced your present and have a new clarity about your pursuit in life. At this time, you are learning to be alone with yourself, leading you to find your own truth.

Something in the past that you have forgotten may affect you currently, making you react through inappropriate actions in the present situation. Watch your motives. Reason is essential to prevent more difficulties.

Your psychic abilities and intuition will be intensified.

This maybe is the beginning of prophetic dreams. Learning to use your intuition as a guide will accelerate your progress.

A significant person is coming into your life. Someone that can provide help and guidance, but leave to you the ultimate responsibility.

Things are going to get better.

The people that you share both life's burdens and happiness will be your source for support. During this moment of loss and new beginnings, you will realize who your friends are.

The guidance: 0-22 The Fool – A card of choice - The most powerful card in the deck.

The Wise Fool at the end of the spread announces that after all the trials and despair that you went through, now is time to recuperate, regain your hope and believe in the life unfolding before you.

You are about to begin a new path, not because you know where you are going, but because you want to go further than present circumstances. Your inner Fool urges you to go on when your thinking mind is overly cautious.

Just be aware that when you stop holding to the familiar, wonders await you.

A Tarot reading gives you the perspective to be more aware and connected with life.

It gives you the awareness to help you make decisions to keep you safe, to see from where the solutions are coming from, and to help pay attention to the signs. A reading helps you to discriminate between your fears and reality to be able to accomplish what you want. It shows how people around are influencing your life and much more.
